Legislature Not Always Sensitive to People's Wishes

The Arkansas General Assembly convenes today under the most unusual circumstances.

The legislators have learned that the state has more tax money on hand than it has places to spend it—a situation many of them, no doubt, plan to remedy before adjournment.

But the people remember what the legislators choose to forget.

The 1971 session succumbed to the propaganda that the state was then faced with a financial crisis, and raised taxes. It increased state income taxes and, worst of all, it extended the sales tax to include labor. Ever since, you have been paying 3 per cent tax on shoe repairs, including labor, and auto repairs, including labor.

An occasional voice marching on the legislative halls has suggested perhaps the wise thing would be to reduce the rate of the taxes set at the 1971 session raised.

And what does this voice suggest?

That the income tax be reduced (loud applause).

Repeal the sales tax on repairs and labor? (complete silence).

If you know your government you know why this is so.

There are privately-supported lobbies to fight against income taxes.

But did you ever give a dime, or hear of anyone else doing so, to maintain a lobby against the sales tax?

If it appears that the legislators are out of tune thinking up spending plans while the people are thinking about tax reduction, there is evidence to support this conclusion in the latest Gallup Poll. Gallup reported that 54 per cent of Americans favored holding down government expenditures and taxes against 39 per cent for those favoring larger expenditures, with 7 per cent undecided.

In view of Gallup's accurate forecast of the November election his poll might be required reading for our state senators and representatives.

Israel attacks position

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel planes crossed the cease-fire line with Syria today to attack five guerrilla and Syrian army positions, the Israeli military command reported.

A spokesman said the raid was in retaliation for three border incidents in the last 24 hours, including a half-hour artillery barrage against Israeli positions on the Golan Heights Sunday night.

It was the fifth Israeli air raid on Syria in two months.

All planes returned safely, the spokesman said. He did not say whether Syrian planes tried to intercept the raiders.

Several hours earlier, Syrian gunners touched off a brief exchange of fire with an Israeli patrol, but there were no casualties on the Israeli side, the spokesman said.

Large section of New Orleans paralyzed

Marathon gun battle still raging; six persons die

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Heavily armed policemen held their circles around a downtown hotel today as two surviving snipers opened fire again in a marathon shooting spree that left 6 dead and 17 injured. Meanwhile, new gunfire was reported in a nearby building.

It was quiet from dawn until nearly noon, but then sniper fire rang out from the Downtown Howard Johnson Hotel, and police marksmen, stationed in surrounding buildings with high-powered rifles, raked the hotel roof, where the men were believed still holed up.

The gunshots came a few minutes after a Marine Corps helicopter, with police sharpshooters in the ready, hovered over the roof and blew a hole in the concrete with a high-velocity tear gas at a snail's pace.

Minutes later, police reported gunfire on a patrolman stationed at an intersection several blocks from the hotel. Authorities determined that the new shots were coming from a nearby building, and a police armored car was sent to the scene.

The helicopter drew no fire on three early morning passes over the building, including the third pass for the apparent tear gas.

Police, meanwhile, revised their list of dead, saying that one victim apparently was counted twice, leaving their official total at six. All were identified.

A Marine lieutenant said one sortie included close-up photographs of the bunker-like enclosures used as cover by the men.

The enclosures, five-inch thick concrete-slab rooms, are coverings for the steep stairs from the 18th floor to the roof. Officials said there are two right-angle elbows in the stairway, making it impossible to shoot up and perilous to even check out.

Police said they did not know the identity of the three men who began their siege from the hotel Sunday morning. A sharpshooter, watching the gunmen's movements with a 20-power telescope, described them as black men.

As the drama continued, most of the city's business district was paralyzed, with streets blockaded around the hotel. Officials allowed no one through.

At midmorning there was only speculation about what prompted the shootings. Louisiana Atty. Gen. William Guste said he would ask for a federal investigation.

Police were moving cautiously in an effort to prevent further fatalities. The 18-floor hotel was deserted except for police and the surviving snipers.

One of the snipers was killed Sunday night, gunned down by policemen riding the big Marine Sikorsky chopper during one of many assaults on the concrete structure atop the roof where the snipers holed up.

A firefight flared before dawn when another pass overhead by the chopper, with policemen firing, forced one of the snipers down a stairwell — where three policemen were trying to get into firing range.

The three policemen were superficially wounded in the gun-fight before it was broken off.

It all started about 10:30 a.m. Sunday when the snipers, described by police as blacks, began setting fires in the hotel. When firemen arrived, they came under gunfire.

At one point during the pre-dawn darkness, one of the surviving snipers was reported to have crawled to the other end of the hotel roof. Police sharpshooters in surrounding buildings opened fire, but Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso ordered all firing stopped except by marksmen 600 yards away in the federal building.

Ice closes Interstate

Ice, sleet, and immeasurable amount of snow and below freezing temperatures were blamed for numerous minor accidents in the area over the weekend, according to local law enforcement agencies. However, few injuries were reported.

A four-car pileup near the weigh station on Interstate 30 Saturday night resulted in minor damage to all vehicles but no injuries were reported. The chain-reaction accident was blamed on an extremely slick spot in the road.

A two-vehicle accident Sunday afternoon on I-30 east of the State Highway 29 overpass left one person in the hospital with minor injuries. Both cars received moderate damage.

I-30 from Texarkana to Arkadelphia was closed to traffic from 2 to 10 a.m. Sunday and was shut down again this morning (Monday). State Police reported that the traffic in the eastbound lane was halted due to massive traffic tieups at the State Highway 7 exit and near the State Highway 51 overpass due to vehicles parked alongside the Interstate. About 250 cars and trucks were stopped east of the State Highway 4 exit about 9 a.m. today.

In other area accidents, a three-car pileup was reported on State Highway 29 South, but no injuries were reported.

City police also reported several minor accidents occurred over the weekend.

General Assembly to begin session today

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 69th General Assembly was to convene at noon today for a 60-day regular session with legislators indicating they will take a hard look at major features of Gov. Dale Bumpers' program.

Issues that figure to appear prominently during the session include division of the record general revenue surplus, education, road improvements and the request by the cities and counties for 7 per cent of general revenues.

Bumpers, who got most of what he asked in his maiden session in 1971, says he is "strongly hoping" for a harmonious session. Legislators say Bumpers has displayed a political acumen that will stand him in good stead for battles that may occur during the session.

"The last session was highly harmonious and I believe proved to be highly beneficial to the state...and I think that a second harmonious session

Horton the elephant to arrive on Friday

Don't be surprised if you hear talk of an elephant in Hope, because there is! Arriving Friday, the elephant, named Horton, is expected to be seen in the area of Hope High School.

Horton, Mayzie the Lazy Bird, three hunters, a bear, a rabbit, a worm, and "crazy friends" will invade the campus to perform for students and the public.

These performances are two plays called, "Horton Hatches the Egg," and "The Big Brag" both by Dr. Seuss. Presenting the plays will be the Drama Department of Hope High School.

After a daytime performance for students, at 2 p.m. Friday, a matinee performance for the general public will be at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

US airplanes bomb base 'accidentally'

SAIGON (AP) — An American flight leader mistakenly guided five U.S. fighter-bombers into an accidental attack on the Da Nang Air Base today.

Ten Americans and one Vietnamese were reported wounded by shrapnel or injured while running for cover. No deaths were reported. The western part of the base where the bombs hit is thinly populated.

The U.S. Command reported that about half a dozen U.S. AC119 gunships and one helicopter were lightly damaged by flying shrapnel and four fuel tanks were destroyed.

The command first reported the explosions at 8:20 a.m. as an enemy shelling attack. Seven hours later, it announced that an investigation showed five Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers "flying above a heavy overcast accidentally dropped 34 500-pound bombs at Da Nang Air Base."

The intended target was suspected North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions near Da Nang. The flight leader reportedly ordered the bombs dropped at the wrong map coordinates.

The planes — an Air Force F4 Phantom, two Marine F4s and two Navy A7 Corsairs — came from two bases in Thailand and from a carrier off the coast, and the pilots may have been unfamiliar with the Da Nang area.

The U.S. Command reported continued heavy aerial assaults on North Vietnam's southern panhandle with the object of slowing war materiel moving down to South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Forty-five B52s dropped about 1,300 tons of bombs, and there were 124 strikes by fighter-bombers during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

North Vietnamese and Viet

Cong attacks in South Vietnam dropped from an average of 100 per day during the past five days to 77 for the 24 hours ending at dawn today, the Saigon command said. Sixty of the attacks were carried out by rockets and mortars and involved no infantry assaults, headquarters said.

U.S. spokesmen reported the loss of the 33rd American aircraft in operations against North Vietnam since Dec. 18, when the air war was stepped up in an attempt to force Hanoi to agree to President Nixon's peace terms.

An Air Force F4 Phantom returning from a combat mission in the north crashed in northeast Thailand, but the two crewmen ejected safely.

In Laos, a government military spokesman said there has been a steady increase in fighting near the provincial capital of Saravane, 280 miles southeast of Vientiane. Ten Communist soldiers were killed and eight wounded during the weekend, while government troops suffered light casualties, the spokesman said.

Gun battle --

His order came when policemen on the 17th floor of the hotel said they were being fired upon, apparently by their own men.

Giarrusso, who lost his No. 2 man and two other officers in the sniping which began Sunday, had said earlier he would take no chances.

"Time is our ally," he said. "They're at our will now. We're going to win."

The snipers had started their shooting before noon Sunday, peppering the area with gunfire throughout the day after setting sections of the hotel afire. The hotel is about six blocks from the city's famed French Quarter.

Police on Sunday evening had reported a total of 10 persons killed. Early today, they lowered the count to seven and said the mistake apparently was made in duplicate count of the dead found on the top floor of the hotel. They said three bodies, instead of the six originally reported, were found on the top floor. The other dead included the three policemen and a body found in a stairwell.

It was not immediately known whether all of the victims died of gunshot wounds or in fires set by the snipers.

Mayor Moon Landrieu said that efforts to negotiate with the snipers were fruitless. "They said crazy things," he said. "Things like, 'come and get us.'"

Police said the snipers were armed with pistols and rifles shooting .44-caliber magnum bullets.

Nelson wants tax-lowering legislation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Legislation is to be introduced into the General Assembly that would exempt low-income Arkansans from the income tax and give everyone else a 5 per cent tax credit.

State Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff said he would introduce the legislation along with a proposal to give a 2 per cent credit on corporate income taxes.

Nelson said the exemption bill would be an administration measure that he would sponsor in the Senate for Gov. Dale Bumpers. He said a large number of legislators support the tax credit proposals and he will introduce them, although Bumpers is opposed to the proposals.

The senator said his legislation would grant the tax credits only on 1973 and 1974 tax bills and that the 1975 General Assembly would have to decide whether to retain the credits.

He described the credit as "surcharge in reverse," with the taxpayer taking the credit deduction after computing his tax bill.

Nelson said the administration exemption bill would nullify the income tax in these categories:

—A married couple with two or more children and a taxable income of $5,000 or less.

—A married couple with one child and a taxable income of $4,500 or less.

—A married couple with no children and a taxable income of $4,000 or less.

—A single person with a taxable income of $3,000 or less.

Nelson said the state would lose about $1 million to $1.2 million in general revenues annually if the exemption bill is approved and that the cost of the state treasury of the 5 per cent credit would be $3.5 million. He said a reduction of about $600,000 in state revenue would result because of the corporate income tax credit.

The senator said that in light of the record revenue surplus that is accumulating in the state treasury, the state had an "obligation" to cut back on taxes. He said tax increases approved by the legislature in 1969 and 1971 contributed substantially to the surplus, which is expected to approach $100 million by the end of the current fiscal year June 30.

Rowe is guest speaker at Hope Rotary Club

Rotarian Gerald Keith presented J.W. Rowe, director of the Red River Vo-Tech School, in a program at the Hope Rotary Club Friday, at the Town and Country Restaurant.

"The aim of the school is to meet the total area needs," Rowe said. To illustrate the great variety of courses being offered he mentioned two of the newest classes are brick laying and practical nursing.

Beginning the second week in January will be Bookkeeping, industrial electricity, machine shop, and welding; on Jan. 11, drafting and blue print reading; Jan. 15, first aid; and Feb. 5, fork lift maintenance and operation.

"All the vo-tech schools in the state work together," he said, "and we have had good co-operation of local industries."

President Bob Gullett welcomed two visiting Rotarians, Charles Wilburn of Texarkana and Perry Easterling of Dallas, and several guests, Sydney McMath of Boston, Mass.; William Carrigan of Washington, Ark.; the Rev. Loren Wooten of St. Louis, Mo.; and the Rev. C.C. Truitt.

Quints are 'doing fine'

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The Baer quintuplets are "doing fine and the father is calming down," says a spokesman at Evanston Hospital.

Even Thomas Allen, the first born who had developed a respiratory problem, was being fed orally and was being given oxygen "just once in a while," the spokesman said Sunday night.

The three girls and two boys were born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. James Baer of Northbrook. Thomas Allen, Elizabeth, Douglas Edward, Leslie and Vickie were moved from Highland Park Hospital to Evanston Hospital, a referral center for premature and high-risk babies.

The father has shuttled back and forth from Evanston to Highland Park, where his wife Lynn, 28, was recovering from 10 hours' labor.

Dr. Melvin Cohen, medical director of Fertility Institute, Ltd., said Sunday he had treated Mrs. Baer daily with the fertility drug Perganol before she became pregnant.

All Around Town

The City Police weekly report ending Jan. 7 shows four traffic violations, seven license violations, four drunkenness, three DWI, one assault and battery, one petty larceny, two illegal co-habitation, two failure to answer summons. The yearly accident total is 16 with one injury.

Gerald Trussell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has been named chairman of the Finance Committee of the Southern Baptist Churches in Arkansas, according to the Arkansas Baptist Newsmagazine.

Dr. Everett Sneed, Editor of the Arkansas Baptist Newsmagazine, was to have been the instructor for the adult study in Galatians at the Calvary Baptist Church January 7-10, due to recent weather conditions the study has been postponed.

"With all of the joys of Christmas, it's not too late to make your contribution to the 1972 Christmas Seal Campaign", according to Mrs. Dee McMurrough, local Christmas Seal Chairman. As of Friday, Jan. 5, Hempstead County residents have contributed $1,983.65.

Laird presents report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told Congress today South Vietnam is virtually ready to take over its own full defense if the Paris peace talks fail.

But Laird repeated President Nixon's stand that the United States will stay in the war until American prisoners are released and Hanoi accounts for the missing in action.

"Vietnamization is virtually complete," Laird told the House Armed Services Committee. "... There will be no reason for the United States to maintain a role in logistics, air or ground combat."

But Laird repeated again at that point that regardless of South Vietnam's ability, "there will be no complete U.S. withdrawal until American prisoners are released and GIs missing in enemy territory are accounted for."

Laird's 104-page report reviewed his four-year stewardship of the Pentagon and his recommendations for the future, but made no reference to the recent heavy bombing of North Vietnam.

But as the first high-level administration official to go before Congress since the bombing was broadened on Dec. 16 and then restricted to below the 20th Parallel Dec. 30, Laird was certain to be questioned closely on the matter.

The defense secretary said the equipment and training provided Saigon in the Vietnamization program, of which he has been an architect, "has significantly enhanced the prospect for successful negotiation, but should negotiations fail, Vietnamization makes possible the complete termination of American involvement in the war."

This, he added, is contingent on the safe return of American POWs and an accounting of the missing in action.

Laird, who leaves office Jan. 20, apparently believes that even if President Nixon's efforts to reach a broader peace settlement for Indochina fail, South Vietnam is now strong enough to hold on even with the presence of an estimated 140,000 North Vietnamese troops within its borders. One of Saigon's principal objections to the proposed peace settlement is its failure to provide for withdrawal of Communist forces.

Since he last reported to Congress nearly a year ago on Soviet weapons developments, Laird said, the Russians have for the first time tested a big and improved new intercontinental ballistic missile.

General Assembly --

It is possible there will be a major fight over whether to reduce taxes. Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff is the leader of a group of legislators who believe that the tax increases approved by the 1971 session contributed substantially to the revenue surplus that is expected to approach $100 million by the end of the fiscal year June 30 and think taxpayers should receive some relief.

Both houses were to convene at noon, with most of the day set aside for organizational details.

Oaths of office will be administered at a joint session of the General Assembly beginning at 10 a.m. Tuesday. Bumpers, who won a landslide re-election victory over Republican Len Blaylock will deliver his inaugural address at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the rotunda of the Capitol. A reception will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the governor's conference room and an inaugural ball at 9 p.m. at Rick's Armory in Little Rock will top off the day.

There will be seven new senators taking seats in the 35-member Senate and 29 new members in the 100-member House of Representatives. Four blacks—a senator and three representatives—will be among the freshmen, the first time that blacks will sit in the General Assembly since the 1893 session.

The legislature will be composed of 99 Democrats and one Republican in the House and 34

Democrats and one Republican in the Senate.

Usually, the legislature gets tougher with a governor in his second term and precession budget hearings of the Arkansas Legislative Council indicated that there probably would be no departure from tradition this year. The council showed little hesitation in trimming the requests by Bumpers.

The council voted to scrap the governor's plan for starting a statewide public kindergarten program. Bumpers has promised to fight for restoration of the $10 million he wants over the next two years to start the program.

Bumpers is also seeking an expenditure of $7.5 million to provide free textbooks for the upper four grades of the public schools and the proposal apparently faces stiff opposition.

Much of the legislature's time will be occupied with how to spend the revenue surplus. Bumpers has proposed a capital improvements program to be financed by the surplus but the Legislative Council took no action on his recommendations.

Among the proposed expenditures are about $19 million for expansion and improvement of the University of Arkansas Medical Center, $10 million for the acquisition of wilderness areas, the money for the free textbook program and $15 million for a state office building.

The governor has also proposed setting aside $10 million as part of a reserve fund to meet unanticipated cost of governmental programs.

Sweet-sour pork cuts calories

Apricot-skillet chops is American version of sweet-sour pork.

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Fat Porky Pig has gone to a reducing salon, courtesy of pork breeders and marketers, without losing any savoriness. This is important to those who enjoy eating pork but are concerned about weight-producing calories. Those who enjoy the Oriental combination of sweet-and-sour pork will find making and eating an Apricot-skillet pork an enjoyable experience. To keep scallions crisp and preserve texture of the apricots add them at the last, just before serving.

APRICOT-SKILLET CHOPS

1 can (17 ounces) apricot halves
4 cured loin pork chops, ¾-inch thick or 1¼ pound fully cooked ham steak
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange peel

¼ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon dried mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ cup dark seedless raisins

1 cup sliced celery
¼ cup sliced scallions

Drain apricots, reserving syrup. If using electric skillet preheat at 350 degree setting. Fry pork chops (or ham) in butter on both sides until lightly browned. Place chops on warm serving platter and keep warm. Mix cornstarch and sugar; add to skillet along with peel, seasonings and lemon juice. Blend in reserved apricot syrup; cook, stirring constantly, until sauce boils ½ minute. Add raisins and celery. Reduce heat (skillet setting to 225 degrees) cover and simmer mixture about 5 minutes or just until celery is crisp tender. Add apricots and scallions. Simmer just until heated through. Pour sauce over pork chops and serve with hot noodles or rice. Makes 4 servings.

Stuffed beef is no meatball

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

A meatball is a meatball except when it is a very special Stuffed Beef Roll with Spaghetti. Versatile ground beef makes a fine meat roll with celery, green pepper and onion to serve with a packaged spaghetti dinner with mushroom sauce. A new cook out to impress his or her date will find this recipe a lifesaver. Serve with a large green salad, hard rolls and butter pecan ice cream.

STUFFED BEEF ROLL AND SPAGHETTI

¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
1 pound ground beef
1 package (19½ ounces)

spaghetti dinner with mushroom sauce

2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs

1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Saute onion, celery and green pepper in butter until tender. Stir in chopped mushrooms; set aside. Combine ground beef, canned grated cheese, bread crumbs, egg, salt and pepper. Spread out in 9-inch square on waxed paper. Spread sauteed mixture over meat, leaving ½-inch border. Roll into log by lifting wax paper. Press edges together to seal. Place in greased loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain well. Place meat roll on large platter; surround with spaghetti. Pour heated spaghetti sauce over meat and pasta. Makes 4-6 servings.

Obstacle course helps children

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—A specially designed obstacle course at Children's Hospital here is an important part of a program to help cure young children handicapped in their speech and coordination. The program, aimed at three- to five-year-olds, is based on the theory that "more often than not, a child who has immature coordination will have a speech problem," according to Dr. Kathryn Beadle, head of the Communication Disorders Center at the Stanford University Center.

The obstacle course is a series of crawling, throwing, balancing and other tests especially designed to help the children learn to control their bodies, and to think about what they are doing and learn what moves they should make next.

"We're using language in a special way in perceptual control," said Dr. Beadle. "We're using a Russian concept that speech, besides being a communications tool, is also a regulating mechanism. A child has to develop speech in order to develop organized social behavior patterns."

Besides the obstacle course, children in the six-week program play games to learn shapes and spatial relationships, identify their body parts, work with their fingers, and sing and exercise with music. The class meets for two hours a day, four mornings a week.

Donna Dagenais, the program's supervisor, stresses discussion about each activity, tries to draw each child out to talk before the group, and tries to have children recall the events of each session. Often the children are hard to control.

"They are often hyperactive," said Dr. Beadle. "They can't control their behavior because they can't talk to themselves. They can't anticipate the results of their actions, planning is difficult for them."

"We teach them to verbalize what they are doing, what they are going to do, what they have done. When they can do this, their behavior changes dramatically."

While the best results are obtained in working with young children, Dr. Beadle said, older children can also benefit from similar training.

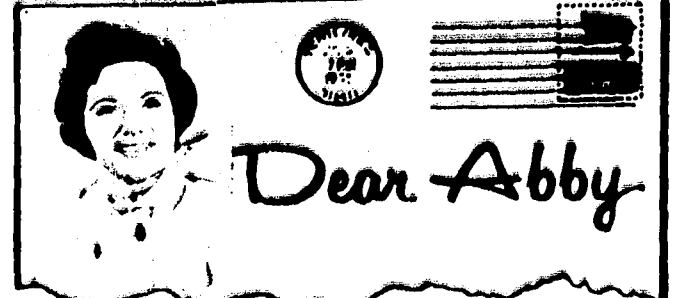

"Very often kids with really good potential are not learning normally in school," she said. "We test children who are not keeping up with their class."

Dr. Beadle said children with speech-coordination problems can be identified because they are more clumsy and tend to fall more often than normal. They typically cry more than other children, are more socially dependent on their mothers and look younger than playmates the same age.

"These children aren't sure where their bodies are in space and are often confused about where different parts of their bodies are located," she said.

"We treat the whole child, enabling them to mature in physical and emotional areas, teaching them to take responsibility for their own behavior as their speech improves."

Break the chain or break the law

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that lady who felt guilty if she didn't continue to circulate "chain letters," please tell her she should feel guilty if she DOES. They are against the law and should be turned over to the local postmaster.

Only last week I received a "prayer" chain letter in the mail. It said:

"Trust in the Lord Jesus Christ with all your heart and always acknowledge Him and He will light your way. This prayer has been sent to you to bring you luck. The original copy came from the Holy Land and has been sent around the world 23 times. Make four copies and send them to your friends. You must do this within four days or you will suffer dire consequences. One man in Hawaii broke the chain and on the sixth day he died. On the seventh day he won $50,000, which he was unable to collect."

Such rot! I am a Presbyterian minister, over 80 years of age. I still preach every Sunday and I believe in prayer, but I broke the chain, and my "four days" are long past and I still feel great!

I shall surely tell my congregation to forward any chain letters to their postmaster and feel repaid for having headed off at least one more piece of superstitious junk.

HAROLD A. SMITH, ATLANTIC, IA.

DEAR REV. SMITH: Thanks. And I'll tell my readers the same.

DEAR ABBY: You have said many times in your column that it is not considered good etiquette to put "No children, please" on wedding reception invitations.

Well, I don't care what you say. If you had to pay a caterer $15 a person you would make sure Mom and Pop didn't bring their six kids along to get a free meal.

Some people have to be told in plain English to leave their kids at home, and I say, "TELL 'EM!"

PLAIN TALKER IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR PLAIN: For another point of view, let's hear it from a reader in Coon Rapids, Minn.

DEAR ABBY: So often you hear from people who want to exclude children from a wedding reception. I find this distressing. Such occasions are ideal for families to be together. The father has to work away from his home all day, and in many cases the mother also works. The kids are involved in their various school activities, or just left to burn around with their peers while the parents run off and leave them.

Children should be included with their parents at weddings so they will see the beauty and sacredness of the marriage ceremony. And at the reception, if the refreshments were limited to cookies and punch, children could be included without running the cost up. Who cares what is served? After all, people are supposed to be celebrating the union of two people in love—not food and drink!

The family unit is held together by love and togetherness. It is the only thing that will keep our country strong and save mankind from destroying itself. Where else but with his parents should a child learn how adults should conduct themselves?

MARY K. BERG

DEAR ABBY: To the lady with four children by her first husband who married a man who had five children by his first wife and was frequently asked, "Are all those children yours?" here is the best reply I've ever heard:

When traveling by train from Wichita, Kas., to Oklahoma, a lady with 11 children was seated just ahead of us. The conductor asked, "Are all these children yours, lady, or is it a picnic?"

She replied, "Yes, they are all mine. And since you asked, it sure ain't no picnic!" E. W. IN AVONDALE, ARIZ.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Clemente: Not just a sports hero

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Shortly before Roberto Clemente's death there was a story out of Washington, D. C., that told of the "boom-crang" effect the antidrug TV spots by National Football League players were having on the young.

Donald L. Kanter, a psychologist and marketing professor at the University of Southern California, cited a study he had made. Professor Kanter found that 90 per cent of the high school students he interviewed believed the football players were "hypocritical," "insincere."

This is in stark contrast to the way Clemente met his death. He was embarking on what has been called "a mission of mercy," seeing to it firsthand that a plane load of relief supplies for the earthquake victims of Managua, Nicaragua, would get to the intended destination (rumors that previous supplies he had helped gather had landed in the hands of profiteers had provoked him).

Clemente did not pay lip service to a popular cause; if he was concerned strictly with ballooning any kind of humanitarian image, he could have simply lent his name to the relief efforts and then gone off to a banquet or the golf course or his vault.

Clemente had been building a reputation for helping people, from the destitute to teammates. (Willie Stargell and Danny Murtaugh, for example, give testimony to Clemente's chiropractic handiwork, saying that they walked easier after Clemente had knuckled up their sacroiliacs.)

His dream project was to build a "sports city" in his home country, Puerto Rico.

The sports city would be a place where poor kids from the United States as well as Puerto Rico, could come to live and play and learn.

"Through me," he once said, "lots of people can be helped. People look up to you when you are in sports. They try to imitate you."

Bill Russell once said that kids could look up to him as an athlete but their fathers should give them the example to set as people. Clemente, however, said that there were many youngsters in Puerto Rico without fathers. He felt that in some small way his work and presence could in part fill a void.

Clemente was not an easy laugh. And perhaps he took himself so seriously because many others did not. He had a reputation for suffering invisible ills.

Once, for example, he was spiked in the arm and foot. Yet he came to bat and hit a home run. One-handed, one-legged. He walked around the bases. "I have so much God-given talent that I can play when I ache so bad," he later recalled. "But my manager did not understand. He thought I was hot-dogging it."

He was concerned about the public's conception of him. "I am no fancy fellow," he affirmed. "But once you get an image, no matter what, you die with that image." The image that the world will carry of Roberto Clemente is not one of a man with a creaky back, nor of one with a .22 gauge arm, but of a man who cared about people and was committed to doing something about it.

After Clemente's plane crashed off the coast of Puerto Rico, President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua sent a cable of condolence to Clemente's wife and three young sons: "He died a hero, leaving his family in order to aid humanity."

Somoza, appropriately, did not say sports hero. That would have been too utterly limiting.

Abdul-Jabbar leads Bucks to victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Meet the "new" Oscar Robertson of the Milwaukee Bucks—Lucius Allen.

"It's a difficult role," said Allen, who was cast as playmaker Sunday after the reliable Robertson hurt himself in the first quarter of a National Basketball Association game.

Allen knew what to do, though. He gave the ball to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and the slick center poured in 37 points to lead a 99-92 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

"I made some mistakes—a couple shots I should have made and a couple of bad passes, but fortunately we got the breaks at the end to win it," said Allen.

In the other NBA games Sunday, the Boston Celtics smashed the Baltimore Bullets 116-98; the Chicago Bulls routed the Buffalo Braves 119-96; the Cleveland Cavaliers trimmed the Houston Rockets 102-97; the Detroit Pistons defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 101-96 and the Philadelphia 76ers stopped Seattle 85-82.

Saturday night's scores in the NBA included: New York 116, Houston 106; Cleveland 108, Los Angeles 93; Atlanta 116, Detroit 111; Milwaukee 110, Buffalo 96; Golden State 111, Philadelphia 109 and Phoenix 118, Kansas City-Omaha 112.

Along with his stickout playmaking, Allen also scored 20 points. Bob Dandridge added 23 to the Milwaukee offense as the Bucks whipped the Lakers for only the fourth time in their last 14 meetings.

Abdul-Jabbar scored 10 straight points while Los Angeles went scoreless for more than five minutes at the end of the third quarter and into the fourth.

Boston opened a 15-point lead over mistake-prone Baltimore in the first quarter and went on to bomb the Bullets behind John Havlicek's 33 points. The Bullets committed 13 turnovers in the first quarter as the Celtics took a 29-14 lead.

Elvin Hayes topped the losers with 24 points.

Bob Love, Chet Walker and Garfield Heard combined for 64 points to power Chicago over injury-riddled Buffalo. Two Brave regulars, Bob Kauffman and John Hummer, are sidelined with various ailments.

Barry Clemens sank two free throws in the final seven seconds to help Cleveland halt a Houston comeback. Clemens' two free throws spread the score to 100-97 to keep the Rockets at bay.

Detroit fashioned its victory as Bob Lanier scored 32 points, 25 in the second half. Fred Boyd sank two free throws with 10 seconds to play as Philadelphia broke a 14-game losing streak with its victory over Seattle.

ABA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Everywhere the Utah Stars go these days, they provoke superlatives.

"Fantastic," said New York Net assistant Coach John Kresse after the hot Stars beat his club 113-104 in an American Basketball Association game Sunday.

The Stars, leaders in the ABA West, won their 16th game in the last 18 in much the same manner as the other successes—cool professionalism.

Two times the Nets charged back from big deficits to within four points in the late going, but the Stars wouldn't crack under pressure.

"We forced them into tough one-on-one situations and we still got burned," said Kresse, speaking for Coach Lou Carnesecca. "We really went after them. They just put in their shots. We got good shots and just didn't connect when we had to."

In Sunday's other ABA matches, the Carolina Cougars tripped the Denver Rockets 113-111 and the San Diego Conquistadors turned back the Memphis Tams 118-113.

On Saturday night in the ABA it was: Virginia 113, Kentucky 109; Carolina 106, Dallas 104 and Utah 125, Indiana 118.

Jimmy Jones scored 28 points and Zelmo Beaty and Ron Boone had 22 apiece to lead the Utah attack. The Nets, losing for the ninth time in 10 games, were led by John Roche with 25 and Billy Paultz with 23.

Veteran Billy Cunningham and reserve Gene Littles sparked Carolina to a comeback victory over Denver.

The star forward got a big assist from Littles, who came off the bench to score 19 points and inspire Carolina's pressure defense which forced 28 Denver turnovers.

Bobcats lose to Fairview

By RICKY FAWCETT
Star Sports Writer

Suffering a severe scoring depression throughout the second half, the Hope Bobcats dropped their second conference game of the year to Fairview, 72-47, last night.

The first half was a tug of war between the two teams with Hope leading 32-29 at the close. Fairview then outscored the Bobcats 43-15 in the second half to take the victory.

Fairview's Lowell Sanders was the games top scorer with 18 points. Jimmy Smith and Bud Martin shared Hope's scoring honor with 13 apiece.

Earlier in the night the Fairview Junior Boys beat Hope's Bobkittens 38-29.

Fairview opened up a large lead which held through most of the game.

It was not until late in the game that the Bobkitten subs pulled the score to within decency.

Mark McKinnis of Fairview led all scorers with 14 points.

Curtain rings down on college football

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's top seniors, playing in sun and rain more than 5,000 miles apart, finally rang down the curtain on the college football season over the weekend and sat back to await the lure of the dollar in the pro draft later this month.

Rain was the order of the day Saturday as the South posted a pair of victories over the North—33-30 in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., and 17-3 in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu.

However, the sun shone brightly Sunday for the last of all the postseason games, a 10-6 victory for the North over the South in the American Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

Chuck Foreman, a running back from Miami of Florida, got an early bonus. He picked up a $1,500 winner's share plus a new automobile as the most valuable player in the Senior Bowl.

Foreman scored on a 10-yard sweep, carried 24 times for 167 yards and caught three passes for 59 more before rearing of pro scouts. Pete Van Valkenburg of Brigham Young, the nation's leading rusher, gained 159 on 22 carries, including a 75-yard sprint for the game's first touchdown.

The South dominated the contest, building a 33-16 lead with 12½ minutes left. The North was able to close the margin because of a Senior Bowl rule which allows a team points behind to keep receiving kickoffs after scores.

Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt, the Heisman Trophy runner-up, was named the Hula Bowl's outstanding player over Heisman winner Johnny Rodgers of Nebraska. Pruitt gained 61 yards on a field that was more like a quagmire, including a 15-yard burst to the three-yard line from where Southern Cal's Sam Cunningham barreled over for the game's only touchdown generated by either offense.

Stanford linebacker Jim Merlo intercepted a pass and ran eight yards for the only other touchdown.

Two long-range field goals by Auburn's Gardner Jet gave the South a 6-3 lead in the American Bowl. But the North stormed 75 yards in nine plays in the final period, with Louisville's John Madeya firing a 16-yard touchdown pass to Nebraska's Jerry List with 4:55 left.

Larry Brown gets some recognition

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Larry Brown feels he has finally won some recognition.

The Washington Redskins running back: —Has been named to the Pro Bowl in each of his four years in the National Football League.

—Led the NFL in rushing his sophomore season, becoming the first Redskin in history to gain more than 1,000 yards rushing in a single year.

—Became only the third runner in NFL history to rush for more than 4,000 yards in their first four seasons as a pro.

—Had the unique distinction in 1972 of being selected The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week for two successive weeks.

—Was a runaway choice as the NFL Offensive Player of the Year in The Associated Press balloting.

—Named easily to The Associated Press' All-Pro team.

—Was an overwhelming pick as The Associated Press' Most Valuable Player in the NFL.

"Now I feel that I have some type of national recognition," Brown said when informed of his selection as MVP. "I want to be recognized as a good running back, not one that has a good year, then fades away."

When the ground game is shut off, Brown, a 5-foot-11, 195-pound former blocking back at Kansas State, becomes a dangerous receiver.

Super Bowl preview

DOLPHIN OFFENSE

PASSING

Warfield runs the most precise patterns in football. Doesn't catch as much as others, like Redskin duo, simply because Dolphins don't throw as much. Interesting to watch him work against Fischer, who can't match his speed. Twilley doesn't scare people but he's sure-handed. Dolphins occasionally run them on same side of field in East formation. Fleming as tight end is valued most for blocking; in sure passing situation they'll throw in Otto Stowe as wide receiver, or Jim Mandich. Almost cinch that Griesse will supplant Morrill as starter for this one. A heady leader.

RUNNING

No team gets more out of ground attack than Shula's gang. Mercury gave them extra dimension this year with outside speed. Csonka is the bruiser for tough yardage. Looks like dry horse but check his average per carry (5.2 yards). Seldom go to him as receiver. Kick is valuable guy in that area. Alternating him with Mercury insures fresh speed at the running backs. Dolphins sure to stress running game against that canny Washington gang. Look for them to direct a lot of stuff to left, with Mercury sweeping behind blocking of Csonka and guard Larry Little.

LINE

Unit that's been together a few seasons now. Only change is Moore, a waiver pickup, starting for Doug Crusan, who's been hurt. Evans at right tackle is sole survivor of original expansion draft which got club started in '66. Just now starting to get some recognition as steady blocker. Spectacular man up front is Little, popular all-pro choice, particularly strong on pull blocking. Kuechenberg, plucked from the minor leagues, has come on as fine straight ahead blocker, figures that Talbert can't be any tougher than Lilly was for Cowboys in '72 Super Bowl.

KICKING

Little Goro's a sure shot from short range and a pretty good bet at almost any distance up to midfield. Little Cypriot's a cool cookie, too

PASSING

Paul Warfield - WR — LC (6-0, 188, age 20)	Pat Fischer (5-9, 170, age 32)

Garo Yepremian - K — P (5-8, 175, age 28)	Mike Bragg (5-11, 186, age 26)

Physically the most unimpressive secondary you'd want to see. Everyone's a castoff from other teams and that includes Ted Vactor, who comes into secondary as the fifth defensive back in prevent situations. Don't even have required speed expected of defensive back, with exception of Bass, an unheralded right corner. But they're all tough and feisty. Rosey Taylor, who wasn't physical enough for 49ers, provides smartness at free safety. He goes back all way to '63 Bear title team with George Allen. Fischer, in 12th year, has been super, belies size with hitting.

LINEBACKERS

Hanburger was one of few talents respected by Allen when he took over Skins in '71. Chris gets nod as top NFC defender in '72. Outstanding quickness makes him brilliant on pass coverage. Pardee on the strong side doesn't act like man who's playing his 15th season in league. This was his best year yet. With Pottios in middle that adds up to a combined experience factor of 35 years, so they don't make mistakes. Mo has split time with Harold McClinton and generally comes out on pass downs. Likely to play lot, however, against the run-conscious Dolphins.

LINE

Miraculous how Allen put all the parts together so quickly. Biggs and McDole used to come out on pass downs year ago, but now the big bruisers apply constant pressure. Only change is Bill Brundage, one of few high draftees on squad, subbing for Manny Sistrunk when they want to step up rush. Talbert, the steady man in the middle, came with Allen from the Rams. Size is excellent to meet the powerful running threat of Miami. Dubious, though, they'll use the five-man line which contained Green Bay because Griesse would pick them apart with his pass game.

PUNTING

Bragg has had mediocre year—for him. Alvin Haymond as a punt return man has also dropped off. Dolphins exceed them on special teams.

The Super Bowl: What hath Pete wrought?

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The Super Bowl contains the Great Tossed Salad in the sky, with equal amounts of religion, patriotism and militarism flung together.

Now on the year's most important Sunday — Super Sunday (Easter is now the Second Super Sunday) — the nation is treated to a view of Armageddon. The two greatest created powers of the universe clash while 70 million fervent citizens sit in a cathedral of silence, then erupt in cathedral howls or cathedral yawns.

In V of the first VI Super Bowls of recorded history, the yawns have it.

The Super Bowl has emerged in a very short span as perhaps the most important single event in modern America. Not the national elections, not the release of the second Archie Bunker album can match the Super Bowl for sheer ecstasy.

A review of the history of the Super Bowl (do gongs go off in your head, too, when those words roll?) may explain how this miracle came to pass.

GENESIS, of Super Bowl I, Green Bay vs. Kansas City: The most intensive mass propagandizing technique ever was used to herald the first SUPER SUNDAY. Hardly a commercial went by without some pulp-like voice reminding you of "The Big One" coming up. Dear Diary, it was thrilling.

But, alas, it was all anticlimax after the 4,000 pigeons were released just before the game. If 4,000 pigeons had been released before each quarter, then perhaps the excitement of the game would have been sustained. Green Bay 35, Kansas City 10.

II. Green Bay vs. Oakland:

The only Super Bowl game ever played in the history of Mankind that was more delicious with excitement than Super Bowl II was Super Bowl I.

The highlight again occurred just before the game. A 30-foot high Green Bay Packer float stalked across the field belching smoke from three-foot-wide nostrils. At the 50-yard line he met up with a Raider of the same monstrous dimensions.

Everyone missed the pigeons. Green Bay 33, Oakland 14.

III. Baltimore vs. New York Jets:

This game changed the course of history, like the Battle of Jericho. A long-haired fellow who blew his own horn saved the upstart new league, the AFL.

Not only did he smite the Philistine Colt, but he also broke down the hallowed walls of traditional pre-game conduct. It was broadcast that the night before this monumental contest he had relaxed all night with a blond and a bottle of booze and emerged on Super Sunday ready to do battle wearing his mink coat. This latter-day saviour said the story was Apocrypha. He said he did not wear his mink coat. New York 16, Baltimore 10.

IV. Minnesota vs. Kansas City:

This was a great day, perhaps the greatest ever. Two giant balloons were released in the pre-game ceremony. They floated into the stands and the fans, unsympathetic, began to rip the balloons and the balloonist in each. "They were bloodthirsty," related one of the balloonists later. Meanwhile Pat O'Brien sang the national anthem while Doc Severinsen chimed in with his trumpet. It was beautiful. Unfortunately, O'Brien was about three bars ahead of Severinsen. Fortunately, few knew since the mikes weren't working.

To soothe the ruffled fans, 3,000 pigeons were released, along with 20,000 colored balloons and three tons of confetti.

At halftime, an ear-splitting, side-splitting and tear-jerking rendition of the Battle of New Orleans took place. Cannons went off and grown men dressed in British and American costumes fell down. Kansas City 23, Minnesota 7.

V. Baltimore vs. Dallas:

On Super Sunday morning, a group of reporters were standing in front of the Americana Hotel in Miami waiting for the press bus to take them to the game. Coming down Collins Avenue happened to be what looked like five or six families, on bicycles, with pennants fluttering on handlebars, apparently on the way to a picnic someplace.

Veteran sportswriter Jimmy Cannon, a tough side-of-the-mouth-talking New Yorker, spotted this group and said, "Look what inflation has done to the Hell's Angels." Baltimore 16, Dallas 13.

VI. Miami vs. Dallas:

Sometime before Super Sunday, Miami coach Don Shula received a phone call at his home at 1:30 in the morning. It was the President of the United States of America, Richard M. Nixon, calling with a play that he was sure would work for the Dolphins (it didn't).

Nixon said he couldn't sleep because he was thinking so hard about this super play.

"I thought it was some nut calling," said Shula.

Dallas 24, Miami 3, Washington 0.

Who knows what glories Supe VII will wreak.

Ft. Smith Grizzlies lead basketball poll

By TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer

The Fort Smith Northside Grizzlies are today where Coach Gayle Kanudart wishes they weren't, but hopes they are at the end of the season.

Today, the Grizzlies are No. 1 in The Associated Press Arkansas high school basketball poll.

"We were hoping to escape that (being No. 1) for awhile," Kanudart said when told of the poll results, the first compiled this season from a statewide panel of sportswriters and sportscasters. "We were willing to let someone else carry that load, but I hope we're there at the end of the year."

Northside, with a record of 10-0, is the only undefeated team in the select group. The Grizzlies received eight-first place votes for a 12-point margin over runner-up North Little Rock Ole main. A point behind Ole Main is Little Rock Parkview, which was the only other team to receive a first-place vote.

Pine Bluff was ranked fourth, Little Rock Central fifth, Conway sixth, North Little Rock Northeast seventh, Harrison eighth, Jonesboro ninth and Blytheville 10th.

In seasons past, the Grizzlies under Kanudart, who is starting his 18th season, generally were considered a slow-down type team that won by scores more appropriate for junior high games.

"I don't know how that propaganda gets out on us," Kanudart said. "Statistics will prove we outshoot our opponents every year. I don't know why we were stamped that way. We just play the way we have to to win."

"We like to think we have a disciplined-type attack," Kanudart said. "Some years we have difference personnel who can do different things."

Your personnel and what your opponent does have a lot to do with how the game is played, he said. "If you don't have speed but have good shooters and ballhandlers, you may not do a lot of running."

This season, the Grizzlies are rolling up big scores, including a 109-44 decision over Mena. In explaining the high score, Kanudart said both teams played pressure defenses, which made for a "hurry up" game for both teams.

"When you do that the stronger team is going to score a lot of points," he said.

Kanudart said it was difficult to gauge whether one of his teams was better than another. "We've got a good ball team (this year)," he said. "We're not an overpowering team because we don't have a big man."

Here are the results of poll with first-place votes and records in parenthesis and total points at right:

1. FS Northside (8) (10-0) 88
  2. NLR Ole Main (9-2) 76
  3. LR Parkview (1) (11-2) 75
  4. Pine Bluff (9-2) 42
  5. LR Central (9-3) 35
  6. Conway (9-2) 33
  7. NLR Northeast (10-4) 27
  8. Harrison (11-1) 24
  9. Jonesboro (10-2) 18
  10. Blytheville (12-4) 17
- Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Bentonville, Camden Fairview, Little Rock Hall, Magnolia, Malvern, Monticello, Morrilton, Mountain Pine, Osceola, Russellville, Stamps, Strong, Vaster and West Memphis.

AP reporters take flippant dare seriously

By DENIS D. GRAY

GREG MCGARRY
LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — "Get ready, the track is clear," the speaker boomed from the treetops.

"Okay," the driver ordered. "Hang on tight and tuck your heads in. We're going down."

The runner blades bite into ice down the straightaway. The speed builds. Your eyes dart up at the landscape reeling over the driver's white helmet. The resistance of the ice is giving...

You're howling with the wind. "Faaaaaantaaastic!"

You're slammed into the first curve. You don't see it happen. Now your mouth is clamped. Maybe your eyes are closed. Maybe they're not.

Your helmet buries itself into the back of the man in front. Instinct sends you clutching for the flimsy side straps.

You're an anything-once reporter in a four-man sled going down the Western Hemisphere's only Olympic bob run, on Mt. van Hoevenberg.

And you're helpless.

The centrifugal force drives the sled toward the ice-steeped wall. Your unshielded body twists toward a parallel with the earth, inches off the ice. Your fingers choke the straps. "Unbelievable!"

You're out of the curve, back on a straightaway. The quarter-ton of steel shudders with the speed, ricocheting off the sides, seeking center track.

Now the body knows what to expect. Sure. You barrel into a "zig-zag." Again the muscles strain and contract. The body longs to curl into a fetal ball.

You're zipping, whipping through. Your body flips into the zag and you're hanging up there, a dazzling whiteness sheathing you. The force presses, lashes you down for the final stretch of track.

The brake's steel teeth rake into the ice. A spray of crystals and you're out on the track laughing and shouting again.

Relief. Some 30 seconds on the Mt. Van Hoevenberg bobsled run are over.

Smiles flash, backs are pained.

For a few moments you were part of the rather exclusive world of bobsledding Olympic style. Even though you only made the half-mile run, hitting speeds of up to 65 miles an hour, the thrill and fright of the sport now are part of Your Experience.

Some of the world's best sledgers challenge the run daily.

Most are training for next month's World Bobsledding Championships. The course is outside this Adirondack village, site in 1932 of the first Winter Olympics in the United States.

Other sledgers have already have proved themselves in international competition.

"Why do you do it?"

"Because it's exciting, unbelievable, exciting," said Joseph McKillip, 40, former world champion bobsled driver, now superintendent of the run. "No matter how long you've raced, you're always scared before you get in the sled. But then you get in that seat and it's all forgotten.

"When you're going to hit a curve, your only worry is where the best speed is. You don't worry about coming out of it or about the next one. Then the next one hits you. You take one at a time, and if you come in right, you'll come out right."

And if you don't? "Why, it's almost impossible to go over the side," said McKillip who, according to a fellow sledder, "left a part of his face in Austria" during the 1963 Innsbruck world championships.

"Anyway," McKillip added, "At 90 miles an hour you don't have time to get scared."

We disagreed. "Come on up and try the mile when we've got it all ready," suggested foreman Floyd Gilmour.

"The mile ... THE MILE! ... nine more curves, maybe 30 miles an hour more speed ... faaaaaantaaastic!"

Your mind reels backward ... you're on the track again. Driver Brett Lawrence. Dan Dougherty Sr. manning the brakes. Three of us huddled in between, bodies arched forward, hurtling toward the finish on pure sensation.

SMU-Texas start basketball campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Defending co-champions Southern Methodist and Texas start their 1973 Southwest Conference basketball campaigns the hard way Saturday night—on the road.

Road games are enough to give a coach sleepless nights and Texas Coach Leon Black and SMU Coach Bob Prewitt are having problems getting consistent performances out of their clubs.

Texas is showing the most signs of becoming the club that knocked off Houston in the NCAA playoffs last year. Although the Horns are 5-5 in non-conference games, they narrowly lost 81-79 to a good Oklahoma team and tripped an excellent Centenary outfit 81-79 last week.

Oklahoma thoroughly mauled the Mustangs 84-68.

SMU, 3-6, plays at Texas Tech, a team that upset Creighton 59-57 last week. The Red Raiders are 7-4 along with the Texas Aggies and Arkansas Razorbacks.

The Longhorns open at Baylor which has a 5-4 mark after defeating Lamar University 98-94 last week.

The other conference games Saturday are day affairs. A&M meets Arkansas in Fayetteville at 3:35 p.m. while Rice hosts TCU at 2 p.m. in the SWC televised game of the day.

The SWC is 46-39 against non-conference teams and there's action-a-plenty tonight.

Baylor entertains Tulane while SMU hosts mighty Mississippi State. Rice is at Georgia Tech and Texas Tech is out west against Utah State.

Houston has the best record of any SWC club with a 9-2 mark although the Cougars can't play for the title for three years. They defeated Texas A&M 114-94 in the finals of the Bluebonnet Classic Saturday night.

The scrappy Rice Owls whopped The Citadel 82-64 to take third place in the Presidential Classic in Washington, D.C.

Paterno to remain at Penn State

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rod Funseth, who admits to some occasional negative thinking, called his wife, Sandi, after the third round of the $135,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

"I've got a 17-stroke lead over last place," the curly-haired, soft-spoken Funseth told her.

Sandi, no negative thinker, promptly put two bottles of champagne on ice.

She had the right instincts. Funseth, who has made a 13-year career as a supporting player to the likes of Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino, scored a solid, methodical, almost pedestrian three-stroke victory Sunday in the event that opens a 12 months schedule on the pro tour.

Funseth stroked irons with in almost tap-in distance for consecutive birdies on the eighth and ninth holes, parred the last nine in routine fashion as he pumped shot after shot to the middle of the green and finished with a two-under-par 69 for a 276 total on the 7,028-yard Riviera Country Club course.

It was only the second career victory—the other was in the 1965 Phoenix open—for Funseth, who has collected a flock of course records only to blow the advantage. This time he collected $27,000.

Funseth solid victory in LA Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Beryl Shipley leads Southwestern Louisiana against Cincinnati tonight, but can be excused for not having his complete mind on the college basketball game.

Shipley has other things to think about—125 other things as a matter of fact.

That's the number of player recruiting violations he's alleged to have committed.

Shipley, however, calls the charges by the National Collegiate Athletic Association "political."

"Ninety-five per cent of our trouble" stems from charges made by a disgruntled graduate assistant that Shipley fired two years ago, the coach insisted on the eve of a college basketball doubleheader at nearby Nassau Coliseum in Uniondale.

Shipley added that he was also caught in a political squeeze from schools who resented Southwestern's recent rise as a national power and by Louisiana officials, who resented the fact that he had made a success with black stars.

The trouble came to light on the pages of two Louisiana newspapers—the New Orleans Times-Picayune and the Alexandria Town Talk. In weekend stories, they reported that Shipley was being charged by the NCAA with several recruiting violations. A key charge included making arrangements for basketball prospects to take illegal entrance exams.

The NCAA had asked Shipley, among others, to answer these alleged violations at a hearing in Chicago Tuesday. But on Saturday, a federal court judge barred the NCAA from holding the hearing. U.S. District Court Judge Richard Putman signed a restraining order at the request of William Guste, Louisiana's attorney general.

Explained Guste: "Our concern was not with the merit of the charges but with the merit of the right of the university for additional time to prepare an adequate defense."

EPA does 'all it can' to clean up Mississippi oil spill

By DOUG STONE
Associated Press Writer
Environmental Protection Agency says it has done about all it can to clean up a massive Mississippi River Oil spill spawned by four petroleum barges involved in a river accident which killed two sailors.

Early today, the diesel oil stretched downstream past Greenville, Miss., to near the Louisiana state line—a distance of about 150 miles.

There will be "unquantifiable damage" to the biology of the area involved, which is rich in fish and wildlife, EPA said.

"As far as the oil mop up, we've done about all we can do," said the EPA's Hagan Thompson of Atlanta, one of the agency's emergency officers on the scene.

"Some of it the oil will end up in the Gulf of Mexico, eventually," he said. "This ranks as possibly the biggest spill on the inland waterways."

The river, swelled by almost daily rainfall during the past two months and moving at a 10-mile-per-hour speed at points, remained choppy Sunday as government workers battled freezing rain and brisk wind in their effort to spread oil-absorbing chemicals and gather the oil into bombs.

Efforts to corral the oil were about doomed from the start because of the more than double rate of speed of the river and its churning surface, EPA said.

"The accumulations are so fragmented there is no way to pick them up, they are so diffused," Thompson said.

The diffusion of the diesel oil did, however, probably save some downstream municipal water supplies from being harmed, he said, since concentrations are not heavy in any single spot.

By Sunday night, close to one million gallons of oil had spewed out of the barges involved, EPA said.

The oil slick began developing when the barges, being transported from Norco, La., to Wood River, Ill., by the towboat "Double D," broke away in heavy mist and raced wildly downstream, battering each other as they went.

One of them slammed sideways into a support of the U.S. 49 bridge at Helena, started leaking almost immediately and continued to develop ruptures as the current hammered it against the support most of Saturday.

By Sunday, the pressure of the river and the constant banging had formed the barge into a "v" around the pier. The vessel began sinking Sunday after its tanks emptied.

The Coast Guard, working from atop the bridge because of treacherous water currents, snagged lines onto the barge below and then attached bouys to the cables so the spot will be marked when the barge settles to an 80-foot depth.

The other three barges, each loaded with nearly one million gallons of diesel oil, were recovered shortly after the accident and run aground.

The EPA transported two of them about four miles upstream Sunday to a petroleum dock where what remained of their cargo was pumped into storage tanks.

EPA said it planned to return one of the barges to Helena, then dump contents of the third barge, which partially sank, into the second vessel. Efforts will then be made to float the third barge, the agency said.

Tommy Dye, 31, and Bobby Grissom, 37, both of Greenville, Miss., were thrown overboard during the Friday accident and remain missing.

Weather prevented any all-out air search, the Coast Guard said. A search on the river continued, but little possibility was voiced for finding the men alive.

"We sort of gave up after we found out they didn't have any life jackets on," said Neal Duke, Phillips County, Ark., civil defense director.

The Coast Guard said Sunday night that below freezing temperatures would probably have resulted in exposure deaths if they had managed to make it to shore along the rugged riverbank.

Judging the judges

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Of the 48 men elected to the Chancery Court and Circuit Court judge positions in Arkansas, seven were judged correct in all decisions appealed to the state Supreme Court in 1972.

Four of them also were upheld in all of the cases appealed from their court to the Supreme Court in 1971.

The four—all judges in Circuit Court—were Charles W. Light of Paragould, Maupin Cummings of Fayetteville, David O. Partain of Van Buren, and William M. Lee of Clarendon.

among the Chancery Court judges were compiled by Murray O. Reed of Little Rock, Ford Smith of Augusta, Henry S. Tocum of El Dorado and Gene Bradley of Blytheville. Each had eight or more of their decisions reviewed by the Supreme Court and each was upheld in all but one of their decisions over the two years.

On the Circuit Court side again, one judge, Harrell Simpson of Pocahontas, has been reversed only once in two years.

The judges' records on appeals, with 1972's results listed first, then the total for each judge for the two-year period:

CHANCERY COURT
District 1, Division 1: Murray O. Reed, Little Rock, 8-1 and 12-1.
District 1, Division 2: John T. Jernigan, 6-4, 10-6.
District 1, Division 3: Kay L. Matthews, 9-8, 16-11.
District 2: James Merriitt, McGehee, 2-4, 6-5.
District 3: James W. Chesnut, Hot Springs, 5-0, 7-2.
District 4, Division 1: Eugene Harris, Pine Bluff, 0-0, 0-0.
District 4, Division 2: Lawrence E. Dawson, Pine Bluff, 2-2, 5-4.
District 5, Division 1: Ford Smith, Augusta, 3-0, 7-1.
District 5, Division 2: George K. Cracraft, Helena, 0-0, 0-0.
District 6, Division 1: Alex G. Sanderson, Texarkana, 0-0, 1-0.
District 6, Division 2: Royce Weisenberger, Hope, 0-1, 6-2.
District 7, Division 1: Jim Rowan, Camden, 6-1, 11-3.
District 7, Division 2: Henry S. Yocum, El Dorado, 3-1, 10-1.
District 8: Robert H. Dudley, Pocahontas, 2-0, 2-0.

District 13: Thomas F. Butt, Fayetteville, 3-2, 7-3.
District 14: J.H. Evans, Booneville, 3-1, 4-1.
District 15: C. Mel Carden, Benton, 2-2, 4-4.
District 16: Ted P. Coxsey, Berryville, 5-1, 7-2.

Another Circuit Court judge, Russell C. Roberts of Conway, was affirmed 17 times and reversed eight in 1972. That was a distinct improvement over his 1971 record, which showed eight reversals and seven affirmations.

Among the Circuit Court judges, only one—A.S. "Todd" Harrison of Blytheville—was reversed more often than affirmed in 1972. Two others, however, had as many reversals as affirmations. They were G.B. Colvin of Dermott and Randall L. Williams of Pine Bluff.

One Chancery Court judge, James Merriitt of McGehee, was reversed by the state Supreme Court more often than upheld. C. Mel Carden of Benton broke even on reversals and affirmations.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "The basic reason for the standard 16-18 point no-trump is that if you open such hands with one of a suit you will be faced at your next turn by an impossible rebidding problem."

Jim: "This means that you can't wait for hands with all four suits stopped. You must take a chance with three small or occasionally just two small in one suit."

Oswald: "You should try to stay away from opening no-trump when you hold a worthless doubleton but jack small is likely to be enough to protect you on most occasions."

Jim: "Today's hand is a good example. If South opens one diamond his partner will merely respond one no-trump. This time South can bid two no-trump and get a successful game, but if North holds six or seven points instead of 10 two no-trump will be too high."

Oswald: "Conversely, if North held just six or seven points today, he would let South play one no-trump. As it is he takes him right to game."

Jim: "With everything breaking nicely, South has no trouble making 10 tricks. Not that the North-South cards will always do that well. The point is that they do belong in three no-trump. And the no-trump opening gets them there."

Safeway Brand Foods Carry Easy-to-Read Dates that Help Insure Their Freshness!

On and off the shelves in a matter of hours! That's how fast our perishable foods (such as meats, eggs, coffee, bakery and dairy foods) sell at Safeway. Even so, the perishable foods that Safeway manufacturers or processors carry open dates which can be checked by our employees (and customers) to make extra sure no package is overlooked.

Shown at the right, for example, is the date on a package of Safeway coffee. When the numbers "1-15" appeared our employees knew the package was not to be sold after January 15. Being positive no package remains on our shelves after the printed date insures that all Safeway coffee you buy will remain fresh and good for many more days after you take it home.

it down

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Are you getting older?
Well, you don't even have to ask the question if —
You have more friends inside the cemetery than out of it.
The last thing you do before going to bed is write down a list of things you know you won't be around to doing tomorrow.
You spend more time looking backward than looking forward.
When you hear a new funny story, a picture flashes in your mind of the guy who first told it to you 25 years ago. But you can't quite recall his name or what became of him.
Your wife calls you Dad or Father.
Every year you buy a garden seeds a few days earlier.
Getting a new tie for Christmas is no longer an ordeal, but a kind of consolation — because it is one tradition that is changeless. Instead of hiding the tie or giving it away, you wear it yourself the day after you get it, no matter what it looks like.
When you see a man going up steps two at a time, you think he must be slightly balmy.
You have forgiven yourself your own youth, but you can't forgive it in others.
Let the first snowflake of winter fall, and you lift your voice to all within hearing distance and bleat out, "You should have seen the great snowfall here in December 1947. There's never been anything like it before or since — except maybe the great blizzard of '88."
Without your realizing it, your daily speech is larded with faded colloquialisms, such as "They're spitting images of each other" or "I was only kneehigh to a grasshopper in those days."
That little round paunch you call a flat tire is getting alarmingly bigger, but you never carry out your threats to do anything about it.
You wonder often how some people manage to hold their jobs, but you no longer wonder how you hold yours.
Any morning you come to work and find the janitor has left your wastepaper basket beside somebody else's desk, you ask aloud why nobody seems able to leave things where they find them anymore. You don't really simmer down until you're halfway through your second martini at lunch. That luncheon is more and more likely to consist of chicken a la king than steak, not only because it's cheaper but because it's easier to chew.
Recognize yourself?
Well, if you do, you may not be Methuselah yet, old-timer — but you're getting there.

Unusual students

By DON MCLEOD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate affair, one of the spicier issues of last fall's presidential election, has finally reached its day in court. Seven men go on trial today on charges of breaking into the Democratic party's national headquarters.
The trial could take up to three months to complete, with the jury sequestered to insulate it from the anticipated glare of publicity. Because of the controversy and high interest in the case 1,000 prospective jurors have been called.
The defendants, including former White House aides and officials of President Nixon's reelection campaign, are charged with breaking into the Democratic National Committee's headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.
Five of the men were captured at gunpoint inside the sixth-floor offices at 4:30 a.m. last June 17 at a time when Democrats were winding up a long run of presidential primary races.
The incident immediately became a campaign issue because of the links between the men and the Nixon administration and campaign.

Useful wastes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city of Nashville, Tenn., is building an incineration-heating/air-conditioning complex that will use municipal wastes to heat and cool a loop of downtown office buildings.

The project, when completed in 1974, will provide central heating and air-conditioning to 24 office buildings in downtown
Nashville, and will be capable of consuming more than 700 tons of municipal waste each day. Babcock & Wilcox has a $2.5 million contract for the project.

farm property) is greater than the combined flow of capital in all corporate, state and local securities, says the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

People in the News

LONDON (AP) — Princess Anne and Lt. Mark Phillips, a member of the Queen's Dragoon Guards, are reported by a London newspaper to be in love.

But the mass-circulation Sun today quoted an unidentified source as saying that the couple can reveal nothing until the royal family gives the word.

Citing protocol, the Sun reported: "In this sort of unreal situation, a romance that would normally blossom into marriage is conducted in a goldfish-bowl atmosphere."

Although the two have been seen together frequently, Phillips, 24, persistently has denied rumors that he and the 22-year-old daughter of Queen Elizabeth II would become engaged.

"A young serving officer in this position is faced with many problems of protocol," the Sun reported. "He can never betray by any gesture, either in private or in public, what his true feelings are."

LONDON (AP) — Actor Richard Burton reportedly turned down a royal request to star in a charity concert to raise money for a British ambulance brigade. Instead, he sent the brigade 100,000 pounds, or $200,000.

The Daily Express said today that the request came from Princess Margaret, sister of Queen Elizabeth II and president of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, which operates on donations.

She telephoned Burton in Rome, where he is making a movie, last week and asked him and wife Elizabeth Taylor to headline the show. But the newspaper said that, although Burton wanted to appear, he said movie commitments would tie him up the next 18 months.

Princess Margaret told Burton she hoped to raise the 100,000 pounds for the ambulance service.

Two days later, the Daily Express said, a bank draft for that amount from Burton arrived at the brigade's headquarters.

Decision upheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court upheld today the first-degree rape conviction and life sentence of Curtis Allen, 19, in Desha County for an assault on an 8-year-old girl.

The court, in an opinion written by Associate Justice John A. Fogleman, rejected defense contentions that Circuit Court Judge Randall L. Williams erred in permitting the girl to testify and in refusing to transfer the case to Juvenile Court.

Fogleman said a precise age had never been fixed by Arkansas law for declaring a child either a competent or an incompetent witness in a criminal trial. The justice said this gave trial judges wide latitude in determining the competency of a child witness and that the Supreme Court finds no abuse of this discretion when "the child realizes that he is obligated to tell the truth and that he will be punished for not doing so."

Hearing on proposed ban of commercials during programs set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A demand by a citizens' group for a complete federal ban on commercials during children's television programs comes up for hearings today before the Federal Communications Commission.

The commission has given no sign as to how it will act on the knotty legal and moral questions raised by a petition filed in February 1970 by Action for Children's Television—ACT—a citizens' group based in Newton Center, Mass.

In addition to a ban on commercials, the petition asked the FCC to require a minimum of 14 hours' programming a week for young people, and programming for age groups: 2-5 years old, 6-9, and 10-12.

For 2½ days commission members will hear oral arguments from church, women's, union and civic groups and from representatives of the TV industry, advertisers, including toy and food manufacturers, and others.

Then the commissioners will wrestle with the issue of what they can and should do. "That's one of the questions—how far we can go, or if we can do anything," an FCC spokesman said.

In 65 volumes of comment already filed by the industry in opposition to the ACT petition, the networks and stations argue that the basic communications act does not give the FCC authority to ban commercials from children's programs.

The industry raised these other objections: The proposal would violate the 1st Amendment, it would run counter to long-standing policy which makes stations responsible for programming that serves the public interest, it is unworkable because it is impossible to define what is a children's program, and it is self-defeating because it would dry up the sources of funding for such programs.

On the other hand, the commission has received more than 100,000 letters from individuals who endorse the ACT proposals—the biggest outpouring from the public in the FCC's history.

Effective at the start of this year, the National Association of Broadcasters acted to limit the number of commercial minutes from 16 to 12 per hour between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. on weekends. About two-thirds of the nation's 600 TV stations subscribe to the association's code.

A study made for the FCC by Dr. Alan Pearce, a communications economist, found that a ban on commercials during children's programs would cost the networks $65 million in revenue. The study said 30 percent of all children's-show revenues come from three advertisers: the Kellogg Co., a cereal manufacturer which spent almost $3 million in 1970; Mettels Inc., toy makers, almost $2 million; and General Mills, Inc., another cereal maker, which spent about $2 million in 1970.
